CURATORIAL NOTES

This watercolor explores the enduring dialogue between natural forces and landscape through abstract interpretation of Tuscan terrain. Part of the Mediterranean Echoes collection, the work translates the gentle erosion of hillsides and the subtle marking of time into flowing geometric forms. The composition questions how memory and observation merge when we encounter familiar yet ever-changing landscapes.

Yellow-green tones dominate the surface, creating a unified field that suggests both vegetation and weathered earth. Darker accents provide structural definition through linear elements that move vertically and horizontally across the composition. The watercolor technique allows colors to blend and separate naturally, creating soft transitions alongside more defined geometric boundaries. Circular and rectangular forms emerge from the organic washes, suggesting both architectural remnants and natural formations.

The work measures 15.0 × 21.0 cm on paper, positioning it within the artist's small-format explorations of landscape memory. Certificate number 20241205-0297 accompanies this piece from the Mediterranean Echoes collection, which examines the visual rhythms of Southern European topography. The compact scale concentrates the viewer's attention on the interplay between geometric structure and fluid color relationships, characteristic of Quercy's approach to abstracted place-based work.
