CURATORIAL NOTES

Slip into rue des Rosiers at twenty to eight, the old narrow street stirring as its shops begin to open. Blue and tan lean into one another; lavender and orange warm the cobbles; a violet-and-teal half-disc rounds the corner like an awning unfurling. The lane breathes its history into the new day.

This is one facet of the 72 Facets of Paris, the series born of a piano waltz turning in full three-time. Two chords voice it — F-7 and Bb7 — tender, then leaning forward, the gentle push of a street getting underway. Hour and place become colour through the artist's ideamorphic method.

Acrylic on paper, 18 × 13 cm, signed on the reverse. A characterful, soulful morning to keep the heart of the Marais close — one square of an abstract portrait of Paris, small in size and rich in story.

THE ARTIST

Arnaud Quercy

Arnaud Quercy is a Parisian artist working across painting, music, and sculpture. His practice is grounded in Ideamorphism — the principle that a work of art does not carry meaning, but triggers it. Each piece is engineered to diffract differently through each person who encounters it.
